Recommendation letter

Remigiusz Terek was employed at Palturai from March 1 2023, to May 31 2023, as a Junior Frontend Developer.

His main duties included:

- development of a desktop application and implementation of new functionalities using the Angular framework
- support during implementations into the production environment
- code analysis of other team members (code review)
- planning and estimating future tasks (sprint refinement)

Despite the short period of employment, Remigiusz was distinguished by great commitment in the performance of the entrusted duties. In addition, being at the Junior level, he found himself great in the projects we implemented. He performed his duties accordingly with the scrum methodology.

Fluent knowledge of English enabled Remigiusz to work in an international company on a daily basis. Finding himself in a new team was not a problem for him, on the contrary, cooperation was successful.

We are sure that Remigiusz will be perfect for the position of Junior Frontend Developer and that soon his junior skills will turn into the position of regular.
